'I Just Get Inclination to Shoot' He Tells Detectives in Explaining Many Shootings.

Omaha, Neb., February 22.—(P)—Frank Carter, 46 years old, a transient farm hand, was arrested today, charged with being the "maniac killer" who in the past week has caused the death of two men, the serious wounding of a third and terrifying of residents of Omaha and Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Carter, in jail here tonight, was unperturbed and talked to police and newspaper men of the killings, explaining they were the result of a career of crime, and that he had to kill to hide himself. A gun and holster were found upon Carter.

"I shot because I didn't want to get caught. I just got the inclination to shoot," he told police.

Carter Is Captured.
Carter was found walking along a railroad track near Bartlett, 36 miles southeast of here, this morning by a railroad section foreman, C. C. Bruce. Carter had crawled out of a hay-stack but a few minutes before he was seen by Bruce, who ran his speed car into Bartlett, gathered four friends to his aid and returned to the railroad, capturing Carter. Bruce identified the man by his leather coat.

William L. McDevitt, a dairyman, shot a week ago last night on the street, and Dr. A. D. Searles, shot two nights later in his office, were Carter's victims. He used a .22 caliber automatic pistol, mounted with a silencer.

Carter, in his leather coat, was easily recognized by the section foreman. It was from under this coat and two shirts that the gun, encased in a rubber hose holster, was taken. Taken into Bartlett on a hauler Carter was jovial with his captors. He was turned over to Council Bluffs officers at Pacific Junction, Iowa, and later was given to Omaha police to face probable first-degree murder charges.

In each case, Carter said, he shot

Gathering at Ansley Hotel Called by President Thomas of Georgia Highway Association.

GROUPS LAY PLANS FOR STATE ISSUE

Both Bond and Anti-Bond Factions Are Arriving For Fight in General Assembly.

Though few members of the general assembly had reached Atlanta Monday night, the half dozen or so on hand already had begun work looking to an early decision on the various questions for which Governor Clifford Walker has called the legislature into extraordinary session beginning Wednesday.

Subjects included in the call are three in number, bonds for highway paving, bonds for perfection of the state school system, and payment of Confederate veterans, but chief interest centers in the road bond question.

Representative W. R. Jones, of Meriwether, reported to be the leader in the house for the road bonds, is already on the ground, as is Herman Milner, representative from Dodge county, who has been the most active member of the forces opposed to the bond issue. Other members seen in the city Monday included Bonnell H. Stone, of Union county; Raymond Martin, of Troup county, and Senator T. L. Pickens, of the fourth district.

Much interest was expressed in a bill which Representative Stone is credited with sponsoring, which will prohibit use of all funds raised by means of gasoline taxes for any other purpose than road building and maintenance.

Meetings are expected today and Wednesday by both bond and anti-bond factions for the purpose of laying plans of campaign for the session and for tightening up the alignment of their forces.

The bond advocates will hold a meeting this morning at the Ansley hotel, called by C. C. Thomas, of Athens, president of the Georgia Highway association, and on Wednesday evening a dinner and meeting will be given, also at the Ansley, by the Kiwanis and Lions clubs, to which all members of the legislature are invited as guests of honor.

Alumni of the University of Georgia among the members of both houses are expected to get together in a meeting Wednesday evening, to lay plans for their share in the school legislation program.

Governor Clifford Walker spent Monday working on his message which, it is expected, will be delivered at a joint session of both houses shortly after the assembly convenes Wednesday.

There was wide divergence of opinion Monday as to predictions on the length of the session, estimates ranging all the way from ten days to four or five weeks.

"JUST FRIENDSHIP," SAYS MAN IN CASE

Denver, Colo., February 22.—(P)—"Just friendship" was the way Herbert W. Singleton, magazine agent, tonight characterized his reported engagement to Mary Louise Spas, erstwhile "Cinderella Girl" of Edward W. P. owning New York millionaire.

Singleton denied that he was "formally" engaged to Mary, who has been in Denver for several weeks visiting her sister, who is ill at a sanitarium.

Displaying a small diamond ring on his little finger which he said was Mary's, Singleton said that she was wearing his college pin but that it was all "just friendship" between them.

Singleton met Miss Spas two weeks ago when he sold her a magazine subscription. Since then he has taken her to dances and shows every night, he said.

"I do not contemplate marriage within the near future at all," Singleton said. "It would injure my career."

Woman Member of Congress Would Solve Problem by Selling Liquor in Licensed Stores.

BY ROBERT D. LUSK.

Washington, February 22.—The national prohibition law will be modified within the next three years, more than 500 delegates to the second "face-the-facts" conference were told today.

The optimism of modificationists was reflected in every speech before the largest anti-prohibition gathering held since the Volstead law was enacted. Women and men—they were present in equal numbers at the afternoon conference and the dinner—cheered these forecasts.

"The law will be modified by 1928 at the latest," G. C. Hinkley, secretary of the association against the prohibition amendment, under whose auspices the liberalization rally was held, declared. "It probably will come sooner. We are expecting a great change in the next congressional elections."

Predicts Modification.

"In the summer of 1924," Julian Codman, vice president of the Constitutional Liberties League of Massachusetts, said, "I told the international conference against prohibition that modification would come in about five years. I have no reason to change that prediction."

William H. Stayton, chairman of the association, was even more optimistic.

"I think that the present congress will take definite steps toward liberalization of the Volstead act, although no definite plan has yet crystallized."

"Modification is at our door," Mrs. Mortimer W. West, president of the Federation of Democratic Women of Baltimore said. "The increasing agitation and unrest is bound to bring a change. We must get more control over the morals of our youth."

However, the senate judiciary committee shows less disposition than ever to hold hearings on the beer bills offered by several senators. Protests from dry senators caused the committee to decide first to call in the authors of the bills and hear their reasons for desiring hearings. It is doubtful if the dry sentiment in the committee will permit any extended investigation this spring.

Swing to Modification.

But the wet conference speakers, including United States senators, representatives of industry and clergy, agreed that the nation was rapidly swinging toward modification.

"The campaign for commonsense temperance as a substitute for hypocritical prohibition which does not prohibit, has reached what might be termed the second stage," Senator Walter E. Edge, New Jersey republican, declared.

"Now that the colossal failure of prohibition and the Volstead act has been clearly established it is no longer necessary to waste time arguing a situation which is perfectly obvious to every fair-minded citizen."

"Any act which has brought in its trail wide corruption in public service, i-vouced alcoholic drunkenness, insanity and deaths, homes transformed into barrooms, taught young boys and girls the use of the flask, unknown before prohibition, and incited a general disregard for all law, cannot be successfully defended."

The conclusions drawn by the conference were that prohibition had failed, and that it must be modified. "We can amend the Volstead act to the point that the supreme court would hold that it was not in contravention with the constitution, but beyond this congress cannot go," Edge said.

Among the others who viewed the

Refuses to Allow Any Civil Religious Matters.

Rome, February 22.—Pope Pius Monday repudiated the fascist government's right to exact ecclesiastical reform legislation. During recent months there have been persistent rumors that an accord between Mussolini and the Vatican was in the making, but the pope's repudiation contained in a letter to Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, indicates that reports of compromise on the part of the church were without foundation.

"The fact that clerical experts have been asked to aid in drafting the laws may cause the belief that this is done in agreement with the holy see," wrote the pope, "but no agreement exists and these experts have received no mandate from us."

Regarding legislation which "belongs to the sacred power of God," wrote the pope, "we declare that on such subjects we cannot recognize in others any rights to legislate unless through convenient negotiations and legitimate agreements with us."

"No suitable negotiations nor legitimate agreement can or will occur so long as the impious conditions imposed upon the holy see and Roman pontiffs exist."

Leading Senators Indorse Robinson's Plan for Vigorous Prosecution of Aluminum Case.

SPECIAL COUNSEL WILL BE DEMANDED

Success of Democratic Plan Would Result in Great Embarrassment To Administration.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, February 22.—Democrats have given a more serious twist to the aluminum case by their new demand that congress request the president to appoint special counsel to prosecute the Aluminum Company of America which is dominated by the family fortune of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Hitherto the democrats have done little more than heckle the department of justice for its failure to carry through the federal trade commission's charges that the aluminum company had violated the court decree of 1912 restraining it from acts in restraint of trade.

Drive More Aggressive.

But wet-end conferences among democratic senators have led to a far more aggressive program. Their reply to the department of justice report exonerating the aluminum company is the demand that congress request the president to appoint special counsel to prosecute as was done in the Duval Bank case. They are willing to forego the senate investigation altogether now in favor of court action.

At a further informal conference of a number of democratic senators Monday for special government counsel to prosecute the aluminum case was approved.

"The conviction seems to be growing among senators," he said, "that there is neither necessity nor justification to authorize another investigation by the senate committee; that the report of the trade commission, the letter of former Attorney General Stone, and other facts and circumstances, already brought to the attention of the senate justify a reference of the matter to the courts, and the passage of a resolution authorizing the president to employ counsel, to conduct the necessary proceedings."

Will Present Resolution.
Senator Robinson, minority floor leader, will present the resolution calling for appointment of legal counsel to prosecute.

The record now before the senate shows a violation of the anti-trust laws by the Aluminum company, he said. "I don't think there is any question but that the record against the company is very clear. Everybody knows it, and I see no reason for a further investigation when facts are already before us."

This case derives its political importance from the fact that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his relatives own most of the Aluminum company and control its subsidiaries.

Embarrassment Seen.

If this case should get into the courts and go against the Aluminum company, the administration would suffer considerable embarrassment because of the presence in the cabinet of Mellon and the refusal of the department of justice to prosecute. Some democrats already have called attention to an old statute forbidding the appointment of anyone engaged in business as secretary of the treasury. President Grant withdrew the appointment of A. T. Stewart, merchant, when this law was called to his attention.

Because of his skillful efforts to reduce an accord between Mussolini and the Vatican was in the making, but the pope's repudiation contained in a letter to Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, indicates that reports of compromise on the part of the church were without foundation.

"The fact that clerical experts have been asked to aid in drafting the laws may cause the belief that this is done in agreement with the holy see," wrote the pope, "but no agreement exists and these experts have received no mandate from us."

Detroit, Mich., February 22.—(P)—Beniamino Gigli, Italian tenor, who was scheduled to appear at a concert here tonight, checked out of his suite at a hotel here and left a note saying he had fled the city because of threats against his life. He had been under police guard in his suite at the hotel last night.

A guard was placed at the hotel after police had received a note which they construed as a black-hand threat against the singer. When the singer arrived from Chicago last night he was met by detectives of the "black-hand" squad and they remained with him until he left the hotel.

The note which police said they received said:

"If Gigli wants to adorn a slab in the morgue let him try to sing in Detroit. We will cut this canary's throat. (Signed) True Friends of Italy."

Beniamino Gigli, the great lyric tenor, is scheduled to sing in Atlanta this year, during the annual grand opera season in April in "Boheme" and "Lucia." He has countless friends in this city and has appeared here in other seasons in the past.

TAX BILL PASSAGE EXPECTED TODAY

Final Fight Will Be Waged Against Retroactive Estate Tax Provision of Measure.

Washington, February 22.—The tax bill will face a final fight in the house when the conference report is submitted for approval Tuesday. This will be over the reduction of $15,000,000 for rich men provided by the retroactive estate tax provision. This will cut taxes on several large estates, including that of James B. Duke, to over millions.

Representative Walter H. Newton, of Minnesota, who is regarded generally as a regular republican, will move Tuesday that the bill be returned to conference, with instructions to strike liability for retroactive provision. Newton, who voiced his objection two days ago, said Monday that a number of house members, especially from the west, had come to him to commend his stand.

It appears that Newton's motion will draw substantial support, but not enough to force the bill back into conference, and that by Tuesday the measure will be on its way to the senate for a final vote there, where a flare-up over the same provision, as well as others, is likely. The conference report was submitted to the house Tuesday.

Washington, February 22.—Representative LaGuardia, socialist, of New York, and Representative Wingo, democrat, of Arkansas, envisioned the house proceedings today with a verbal clash over pork barrel legislation and their respective war records that narrowly escaped ending in a fight outside.

The fireworks came when Representative Wingo referred to his antagonist as a "thing like that." LaGuardia was instantly on his feet with the suggestion that a more suitable place to finish the affair might be found outside if the gentleman wished to use "language like that."

Cooler heads among the representatives intervened and hostilities were ended when Representative Wingo listened to withdraw his remarks.

The trouble began when Mr. LaGuardia offered an amendment to the house offices bill, increasing the appropriation for the fine arts commission.

Washington, February 22.—The process of turning the Russian crown jewels into tractors, plows and other articles useful to the workers of Russia has begun with sale of the most important gems to a French jeweler's syndicate headed by Frankiano Friedman.

The czar's diamond crown, several diadems and bracelets, 54,000 carats of loose diamonds, 10,000 carats of loose emeralds and 10,000 carats of sapphires were knocked down to Friedman for $3,015,000.

William Reswick, a New York lawyer, gained $315,000 for the soviet by insisting that sealed bids be submitted instead of permitting the government to accept the initial French offer of $2,700,000.

MRS. LEEDS PLANS EARLY WEDDING IN PARIS

New York, February 22.—The final chapter of the famous Stillman case has been written, as far as Florence Leeds, who was the "other woman," is concerned.

The United News learns exclusively that James A. Stillman has made a settlement upon her boy—his son—Jay Ward Leeds. Stillman has established a trust fund which gives the youngster $20,000 a year until he is 21, and $150,000 when he becomes of age.

Mrs. Leeds has announced that she will be married in Paris on June 17 to a prominent New York business man.

"From now on, I am just a disinterested onlooker," she said. "I only ask to be left in peace and happiness with my boy."

Thus the "other woman" steps out of the story. Her boy, for whom she fought so many years, is acknowledged and provided for by his father, and the James A. Stillmans are reunited in Paris.

Mrs. Leeds arrived in New York last Thursday from Florida, where she has been spending the winter.

Announcement of the settlement was made exclusively to the United News by William M. Sullivan, who for five years has acted as Stillman's personal attorney. It was made at Sullivan's suggestion in his offices in the Bar building "to silence false rumors concerning Mrs. Leeds."

The settlement was made last November.

Washington, February 22.—As a school boy, George Washington was a bad speller and a worse grammarian, but he lived it down and in the end became a prince of teachers.

President Coolidge told the department of superintendence of the National Education association in convention here.

The president left all discussion of Washington's alleged experiments with home-brew to the anti-prohibition conference which was at dinner a few squares away, with a menu card on which the first president's reputed beer recipe was printed in fac simile.

Staying on safe ground in his biographical remarks, Coolidge quoted one authority, Paul Leicester Ford, who said:

"The end of Washington's school days left him a cipherer, a bad speller and a still worse grammarian; but fortunately the termination of instruction did not by any means end his education."

Praise for Washington.

Except for this boyhood shortcoming the president found Washington a supreme character.

"It is doubtful if anyone outside of certain great religious teachers ever so thoroughly impressed himself on the heart of humanity as has George Washington," the president said.

"No figure in America has been the subject of more memorial tributes and more unstinted praise. And yet the subject never seems to be exhausted and the public interest never seems to be decreased. The larger our experience with affairs of the world, the more familiar we become with his life and teachings, the more our admiration enlarges, and the greater grows our estimation of his wisdom. He represented the marvelous combination of the soldier, the patriot, and the statesman. In the character of each he stands supreme."

"As a brave soldier he won the Revolutionary war. As an unselfish patriot he refused to use the results of that victory for his own benefit, but bestowed them all on his fellow countrymen. As a wise statesman, gathering around him the best talent

Pseudo Artist Who Captivated Georgia Belle's Heart Proved to Be Neol Cobb, of Alabama.

HIS MARRIAGE HERE

Miss Virginia Hollingsworth, Bride of a Week, Finds DuPre's Roseate Stories Pure Fiction.

An "international" romance involving a whirlwind courtship on the part of a sleek-haired young man who represented himself as an official of the French government; Gretna Green marriage with a beautiful, Agnes Scott college girl of a prominent Georgia family, and the stereotyped "fadeout" of prison bars and a woman's bitter tears, has sought its climax in the DeKalb county jail.

There young "Neol DuPre"—or Neol Cobb, as he is correctly named—brooded for several hours Sunday in a cell with charges of bigamy written on the blotter against his name. The warrant was withdrawn, however, with a view to annulment proceedings and Cobb is now said to be in a local hospital.

In Dawson, Ga., at the home of her parents, all the roses have faded out of the life of pretty Virginia Hollingsworth, who up to a few days ago thought she was the bride of little more than a week of the pseudo Frenchman—who in reality is said to hail from some hamlet in Alabama and who is charged with having participated in a marriage with another girl, known only as "Margaret," this wedding taking place since Christmas.

The story of the marriage of DuPre, alias Cobb, and Miss Hollingsworth is one of intense human interest, its progress tracing much of the age-old melodrama of a young girl's trusting love and blighted hopes and the ensemble enlivened here and there with a vigorous dash of modern college life, elopement and an amazing show of "bluff" on the part of DuPre.

Had Good Letters.
Young DuPre first made his appearance in Atlanta on February 7, bringing with him letters of introduction to a senior in the theological department at Emory university from William Graham Echols, field secretary of the Epworth league of the North Alabama conference and connected with Birmingham-Southern college. DuPre had told the latter that he was in America commissioned by the French government to paint portraits of typical American girls, and that he desired to take a theological course at some leading university in order to return to his native land as a "missionary."

The Emory student, Elmo Tabb, introduced DuPre to a number of other seniors in the theological department and urged DuPre to matriculate at Emory.

DuPre told Tabb that his home was in Montpelier, France; that he had been in America only six weeks, where his mother, had been educated. He also told how he had spent four and a half years in Madras, India, where his father was French consul.

The youthful and embryonic ministers were further regaled with colorful accounts of the life of artists in

Leaders of the humorous and dramatic set of the colony of the Atlanta federal prison Monday celebrated Washington's birthday anniversary in a unique manner by presenting a minstrel show in which "home talent" only was used.

About a score players occupied the stage in the big chapel and about 3,000 inmates enjoyed new lines and catchy sayings of end men and forgot the sorrow which had crept into their lives.

Directors of the program worked for several days in the production and members of the audience declared that several of the stage characters entered the class of professionals in their own right. Prisoners, members of their families and newspapermen only were admitted to the show.

'AMNESIA VICTIM' TRANSFERRED HERE

John White, whose "amnesia hoax" puzzled the Atlanta police recently, and Oscar Palmour, his companion, who have been held in jail at Fairburn for some time, have been transferred to Fulton tower to await trial in federal court charged with transporting a stolen machine from one state to another.

Cell mates reported to the jailer that White had been acting "queerly" since the transfer.

WETS LEVEL BARRAGE AT PROHIBITION

modification campaign as one for "practical temperance" was the Rev. James Empringham, national superintendent of the Church Temperance society of the Protestant Episcopal church, whose recent report favoring modification stirred both wets and dries.

"Under my leadership for ten years the Church Temperance society has worked for prohibition in defiance of the constitution of our society, which stands for temperance," Dr. Empringham said.

"But at the beginning of this year our society elected a new board, every member of which stands with Christ for moderation.

"Laws to be effective must first be written in the hearts of the people."

Licensed Stores. Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, the first woman democrat ever elected to congress, would solve the prohibition question by having liquor sold in licensed stores.

"One of the questions we hear on all sides is 'where would this wine and beer be sold?' and my answer to that is in licensed government stores, much the same as they have in Canada today. Drinking is not allowed inside these stores, and nobody dares to disobey the law."

Senator Edward I. Edward, New Jersey, democrat, denounced the Anti-Saloon league as corrupt. Every charge made by Representative Britten, Illinois, republican, could be proved, he said, were Britten's resolution for an investigation of the league passed.

REPRESENTATIVE HILL READS BEER RECIPE

Washington, February 22.—(AP)—Lacking an official opinion on its legality, but facing a suggestion by Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, that it would be unlawful, the second "face-the-facts" meeting of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment heard tonight the text of a beer recipe written by George Washington when he was a Virginia colonel.

The reading, done by Representative Hill, republican, Maryland, prominent wet leader in congress, followed distribution at the afternoon meeting of programs on which the recipe was printed. The menu-cards for tonight's banquet also carried the recipe.

Although the department of justice had just asked an opinion as to the legality, under the Volstead act, of reading the recipe, this was not provided. No reason was given at the department, but some officials were of the opinion that the information could not be furnished to any but federal agencies.

Representative Hill acted as toastmaster at tonight's banquet, and when he had concluded the reading of the recipe, he declared that if any one present feared that by taking a program home, he would be guilty of violating the law, then "the secretary of agriculture is equally guilty for having printed a recipe for fermented grape juice."

"The only difference is the bung is left out," he said.

EVANGELINE BOOTH DEFENDS PROHIBITION

New York, February 22.—(AP)—Evangeline Booth, national commander of the Salvation Army, today issued through the Anti-Saloon League of New York, a statement in which she characterized the agitation for modification of the Volstead law as "the clatter of noisy bootleg patrons."

"If prohibition has lifted up a new element of rum drinkers who can afford to pay bootleggers' prices for poisonous liquor, then indeed, it is but a passing condition that soon must disappear," Miss Booth said.

"The working man is not interested in liquor," she said in her statement. "When the saloon closed he became interested in his family, in the education of his children, in the acquirement of a home, and in the attainment of those fundamental things that make life attractive. It is the men and women higher up who do not have to work for the money they produce for the bootlegger who are doing the drinking and talking."

POSSE SEEKS SLAYERS OF POMEROY MINER

Pomeroy, Ohio, February 22.—(AP)—Sheriff Harry Royce and a dozen deputies searched the hills around Pomeroy today for assailants of Sam Hill, 42, miner, who was called to the door of his cottage last night and his body riddled with bullets.

Hill is dying, with both eyes shot out and his abdomen filled with buckshot.

James Adams, neighbor of Hill, is in jail, suspected of having been a member of the party, which Royce believes numbered seven or eight men. According to the sheriff the shooting was the outcome of a street argument. Hill and his son, Frank, 19, both are employed in the Essex mine No. 5 under the 1917 wage scale.

Yesterday Frank, the official said, engaged in an argument with other mine workers which culminated in a brawl.

At midnight a party of men called Sam Hill to the door of his home, let loose a volley and fled. Frank escaped through the side door.

NO HOT WATER

"Warm perhaps but not hot."

For their sake

change to oil heat now

No interruption in comfort when you put in Nokoi, as many are doing, this month. This tells why BETTER health for your wife and youngsters—fewer colds for yourself, too—is the reward for a little serious thinking right now.

You're going to need heat for two or three more months. Changing to better heat—during February—is not like changing horses in mid-stream. It's more like changing from a leaky, dangerous boat to one that's fast and sea-worthy.

Oh yes, it can be done. So easily and quickly that no room in the house need even cool off while the change is made.

Break tradition

When you realize how simple and how wise the change is... then Sir or Madam, why go on putting up with the uncertainties—and worse—of coal heat? Tradition, habit—these are weak reasons.

The day you put in Nokoi, that day you're going to have heat evenly-controlled. Proper temperatures unflinchingly kept without 2° variation and clean, pure air! Better health is bound to be one result. Your own doctor will tell you this.

Savings surprise you

Of course you're most interested in the comfort of this modern heat. But costs are important, too. There, also, Nokoi offers much.

It usually costs less than hard-coal—never more. Far less than gas. Less, too, than any other automatic oil burner, as far as we know, or can find out.

On top of this, Nokoi saves the average household from $20 to $25 a month—the total of furnace-man's wages (your own time's worth more!), ash-hauling and cleaning bills. By a new budget-payment plan this is practically enough to pay for your Nokoi!

Simple but important principles make Nokoi quiet, odorless and reliable. They belong to Nokoi exclusively—by right of discovery, and by patents. They were approved by leading safety boards long ago—before other manufacturers followed Nokoi into the field.

Not to have them is to miss the full advantages of automatic oil heat.

After all, the proof's in the heating... in the actual heating of homes. More than 27,000 homes are Nokoi-heated today—and have been for periods up to eight years. Two unequalled records.

No other automatic oil burner is used in nearly this many homes.

Many of your friends in Atlanta have enjoyed the comfort of Nokoi heating for the last two winters, and would no more think of returning in the use of coal for heating than you would

Get comfort now!

Our ideas of comfort may be changed right now—and the health of your family improved—without a break in eating the house. Nokoi does not require brick-work or other make-shift alteration in your present heating plant. You may be interested, too, in the reduced down-payment and terms—by which you buy Nokoi's lifetime comfort out of income monthly.

There is an interesting exhibit here for you to see—and more information we'll gladly send, at once. Come in or telephone.

Founder's Day Observed By Agnes Scott Students

Founder's day was observed at Agnes Scott college in special George Washington birthday anniversary exercises Monday, which were featured by a dinner given by the senior class in honor of the college community.

Members of the class were dressed in colonial costumes to portray Washington, Martha Washington, Daniel Boone, Betsy Ross, Benjamin Franklin and other great Americans of early days.

During the dinner a radio program was heard, interspersed by songs by the Agnes Scott Glee club.

Alumnus of the school met in many sections throughout the southern states and greetings were read from meetings held in North Carolina, Florida, Texas, South Carolina, New Mexico and Arkansas, and other states where former students had gathered to observe Founder's day.

The child was discovered at the home of Dunn's father, 85 Park avenue, and at the direction of Judge Eugene D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, the son was placed in custody of the mother and Dunn was released pending a hearing on a warrant sworn out Sunday night.

Dunn was sought Sunday after a warrant was issued by Judge G. H. Howard, of the superior court, at the request of the wife, Mrs. Bobbie Dunn. Despite rumors that he had left the state, he was found at work at a local candy factory. The case, originally set for hearing today, was entered on the calendar to be called in regular order.

Marion Talley Repeats Success In 'Lammermoor'

New York, February 22.—(AP)—Marion Talley, youngest coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, this afternoon repeated in her second appearance the success she achieved at her debut Wednesday night.

The ovation that greeted her cadenza in the mad scene of Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor," equaled in volume and duration that accorded her singing of "Caro Nome" in her debut in "Rigoletto," which introduced her to New York audiences. Today's ovation exceeded in apparent spontaneity the Wednesday welcome.

Hundreds were turned away from the doors after the last possible standee had been squeezed into the ranks three and four deep in the horse-shoe bordering the orchestra seats, to hear the 19-year-old Kansas City girl. Her arias in the three acts in which she appeared were generously applauded, and at the end of the first act she took nine curtain calls, and at the end of the second act ten calls, with Lauri-Volpi and de Luca, who also supported her at her debut.

HUNGRY DOGS KILL ONE-ARMED MAN IN BATTLE

One of the dogs was killed today but the other was still being hunted tonight by eight policemen with shot-guns.

The Montmartre; of DuPre's struggle and triumph in winning recognition as a painter, and of his selection by the Paris government to come to America on the mission of depicting on canvas the typical styles of America's feminine beauty.

Claimed to Be Frat Man.

DuPre claimed to hold a "certificate des Lettres" from the University of Paris, which is equivalent to an A. B. degree. He also represented himself as a member of a popular Greek letter fraternity on the campus, but appeared relieved at not coming into contact with any of its members.

So plausible was the young man's every word and gesture that none entertained the faintest suspicion that he was not what he represented himself to be.

Several nights later, George K. Smith, president of the senior class at Emory and president of the M. C. A., took DuPre to the home of S. R. Christie, Jr., where he met Miss Hollingsworth, a niece of Mr. Christie. So madly infatuated with the beautiful girl he happened to be at once, that he made a "date" with her for the next morning; but at the college he was greeted by the matron and ordered to leave.

Eloped to Chattanooga.

On Tuesday, February 9, the young couple eloped to Chattanooga, Tenn., and were married, returning to Atlanta Thursday night. They spoke in happy vein of an early departure for some foreign city where DuPre's connection with the French government would assure them of ease and plenty.

Then fate intervened to snarl the elaborate web of alleged fiction the masquerading artist had woven about himself and his bride. He was seized with sudden illness and taken to fashionable Wesley Memorial hospital, where he is said to have continued painting roseate word pictures concerning his future and that of his bride. They were, he said, to leave for Honolulu immediately upon his recovery, where he would resume his duties as secretary of the French legation.

While in the hospital, an Emory student casually opened a suitcase belonging to DuPre, and therein were found a letter from a girl signing herself "Margaret" which revealed the fact that he had married her since Christmas of 1925. These letters were addressed to Noel Cobb and disclosed the fact that his real home was in Alabama.

HOUSE GETS BILL TO INAUGURATE PRESIDENT EARLIER

Washington, February 22.—The proposed Norris amendment to the constitution providing for inauguration of the president on the first Monday in January and the meeting of congress two weeks later moved a step nearer final action Monday, when the committee on elections of president and vice president reported it to the house favorably by a unanimous vote.

The senate approved the amendment recently for the second time. The house failed formerly to act. The early action this time indicates a vote, before the session is over.

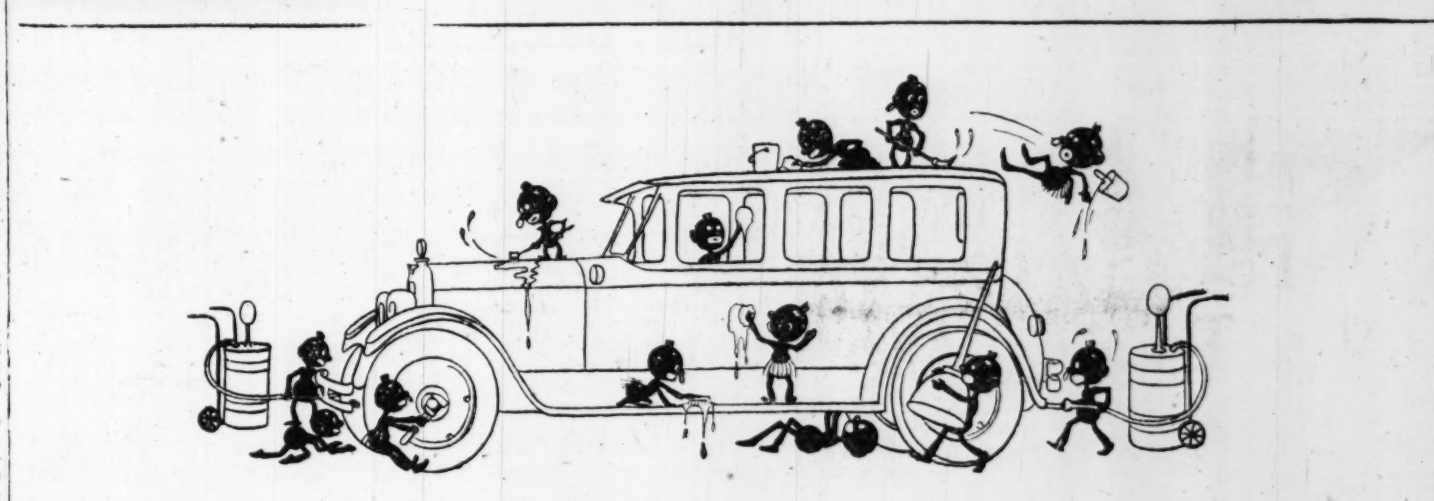

The committee amended the senate resolution by giving authority to congress to act in event the president-elect or vice president-elect, or both, die before the date set for their inauguration.

High Army Officers Witness Parade by "Atlanta's Own"

The regimental parade Monday night of the 122d infantry, Georgia national guard, the high point in the annual federal inspection of the regiment now in program at the auditorium was witnessed by a rather large sprinkling of Atlantans including many members of the Fort McPherson colony, officers on duty with fourth corps area headquarters and others.

Colonel Charles H. Cox, regimental commander, and his staff occupied the reviewing stand, together with Lieutenant Colonel J. M. Kimbrough and Captain Robert H. Ennis, senior and major instructors, respectively, for the Georgia guard. Major W. L. Jones, chief inspecting officer, watched the parade with intense interest and appeared deeply impressed by the soldierly manner in which several hundred young Atlantans marched with fine precision and maneuvered in regular fashion.

Although Atlantans will not know how the national guard ranks with organizations in other states or measures up to war department requirements until army officials in Washington have reviewed the report of Major Jones, it is generally believed that inspectors have found a very high standard and that the training will reflect marked credit upon its commanding officer, instructors and other officers.

member and has been kept secret since that time.

Made Last November. "In November, 1925," the attorney informed the United News, "Mr. Stillman voluntarily made a settlement upon his son, Jay, whose mother is Mrs. Leeds."

"The settlement was a substantial one, and payments commenced immediately."

"As personal attorney for Mr. Stillman, I was appointed trustee and guardian for the boy, and I intend to see to it that he is afforded every advantage and opportunity a youngster could have."

"The settlement," Sullivan continued, "was made upon Mr. Stillman's initiative, and without the slightest pressure or suggestion upon the part of Mrs. Leeds."

"Moreover, the matter was concluded before there was any suggestion of a reconciliation on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman, and had nothing to do with the latter's eventualities."

$20,000 a Year. "Sullivan did not mention the amount of the settlement, beyond stressing the fact that it was a substantial one. Mrs. Leeds, when she had made adequate and satisfactory provision for Jay, said the trust fund provided $20,000 a year for the boy's maintenance until he is 21. When he reaches majority, Jay will receive between $100,000 and $150,000."

"This is approximately what my best would have received under the will of his grandfather, James Stillman, if he had been a legal heir," Mrs. Leeds explained.

In making the announcement, Sullivan emphasized the fact that his client and Mrs. Leeds were on the best of terms, and that the settlement was entirely spontaneous upon the banker's part.

"Mr. Stillman takes a world of interest in his son, Jay," the attorney said. "He is anxious that everything possible be done for the boy."

Relations Friendly. Following the lawyer's announcement, Mrs. Leeds received the United News correspondent, and after confirming the fact that she will be married in June, chatted in the friendliest manner imaginable about James A. Stillman and his interest in their son.

"My plans for my boy never have changed," she said. "He has been under my supervision and always shall be. All the millions, a marriage license or a church ceremony, could never make me part with him."

Mrs. Leeds departed for Florida Monday evening. When she returns to New York it will be to sail for Paris to meet her husband.

"The Stillmans probably will have returned to this country by that time," she said, in answer to a suggestion that one or both might be present at her wedding.

"Sufferers Fear Complex." "Mr. Stillman suffers from a 'fear complex,'" said Mrs. Leeds, referring to her part in the reconciliation between the banker and his wife.

"Some months ago I advised him to eliminate the 'complex,' for there is nothing so overpowering as the fear of the 'fear' complex."

"While I do not know the first thing about psycho-analysis, Mrs. Stillman's efforts along these lines I am sure will be successful, for Mr. Stillman is a mentally sick man."

Mrs. Leeds admitted that had it been necessary for the sake of her boy, and had Mr. Stillman obtained or permitted Mrs. Stillman to obtain a divorce, she would have married him. Now that such a step is out of the question, she is hopeful of happiness for the other couple.

"I hope that announcement of this settlement will bring me peace at last and end the persecution by the newspapers," she said. "I am weary of the sensational light being focused on me."

ASK NEW HEARING IN CATHCART CASE

New York, February 22.—Like a bird released from a cage, Countess Cathcart flitted merrily around New York today. Her first act today following her liberation late last night from Ellis Island on a $500 bond was to send a cable to London to her fiancé, Ralph Neale, the playwright.

She lunched at the Ritz-Carlton while her attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays, consulted United States Attorney Buckner about the possibility of a program of imperialism and oppression.

"I ask in all sincerity that the people who want peace, the people who must pay the taxes, the people who are dying for such a program, face the facts. I ask in the name of our common country, its free institutions, and in the name of those who must come after us, that we should not be disappointed and distressed, that we refuse to give our name or our endorsement to these policies."

"If we can now appeal, just one power that can denounce and damn this scheme, this surrender of American principles, and that is the electorate of the United States, the people."

Taylor is Chief of County School Teachers' Body. Boyd Taylor, teacher in Commercial High school, was chosen president of the Fulton County Public School Teachers' association at a meeting of more than 200 teachers in twenty-nine Fulton county schools, held at Fulton High school last night.

Other officers elected were R. H. Larkin, vice president; Miss Lydia H. Cox, secretary, and Mrs. Lena H. Cox, treasurer.

A constitution for the association was presented by W. F. Dykes, chairman of the committee and principal of Fulton High school. An association of Fulton county teachers was organized on February 22, 1921, but during the past two years it has been inactive and the Monday meeting reorganized the association.

The reorganized association will be affiliated with the American Federation of Teachers, which is in turn affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It was voted to send delegates to the Atlanta Federation of Teachers' meetings.

Opposed Sectionalism. The president said Washington warned the country against sectionalism, advocated a national university and urged general enlightenment.

"He clung to realities," the president said. "That was his greatness. Washington has been known as one of the most practical of leaders. He was not emotional. He was possessed of that broad comprehension of a situation which made his judgment eminently sound. With the possible exception of the field of Monmouth, when disobedience to his orders amounted almost to treachery, he was losing the day, history always calls him as calm, cool, and collected. He always knew what he was doing. He was not sentimental. But he was a man capable of deep and abiding affection and of exalted and inspiring ideals he loved his country with an abounding devotion. He lavished upon it a wealth of genius."

"We are wont to think of him as a military commander and a civil administrator—as a man of public affairs. He was surpassingly great in all of that. But he was very much more. He wished to see his country not only materially prosperous and politically successful, but beyond that, and above it, he wished to see the intellectual, moral and spiritual life of the people developed. This is the side of Washington to which too little attention has been given."

Example of Character. "Our country has prospered, our government is secure. But that prosperity and that security flow from the school and the church. They are the result of the character of the American people. Through and through Washington is the great example of character. He sought to bestow that heritage upon his country."

"We shall fail in our estimation and understanding of him unless we remember that during his lifetime he helped to build a place of religious worship; in his will he provided for institutions of learning, and in his farewell address he emphasized the spiritual values of life. He wished he did was even more eloquent than what he said. He was a soldier, a patriot, a statesman; but in addition to all these he was a great teacher."

demically and adhere to the platform in a fight like the one he was in.

Borah Attacks Plan. In his banquet address tonight, Senator Borah declared that the program to take this country into European affairs was "an indirect and more subtle" now than it was seven years ago when the League of Nations covenant was before the senate.

"If we call for greater vigilance, but it is precisely the same scheme," Senator Borah said. "It calls again for your activity, your courage and your sacrifice."

Asserting that the Versailles treaty has become the international law of Europe, the Idaho senator declared "his spirit of imperialism pervades the continent."

"Millions of people are held in political subjection," he added, "and are being despoiled of their natural rights under the name of 'justice' and 'peace'—terms which are faithless in carrying it out in letter and in spirit."

There have been many wars in Europe since the last seven years, but the great majority of them can be traced to the greed and the imperialistic principles of that treaty. Men, women and children, helpless, unarmed, have been and are being exploited as formerly in Mesopotamia and as now in Syria. And at the same time their natural wealth is divided among a few nations.

Want Program of Peace. "Yet into this satrapia of imperialism we are asked to go, to become a part, to become a guarantor of its continuance. We have already elected to become an adviser and counselor in this program by becoming a member of the league court. The American people wanted a program of peace and they have been denied the place of legal adviser and counselor of a program of oppression."

"I ask in all sincerity that the people who want peace, the people who must pay the taxes, the people who are dying for such a program, face the facts. I ask in the name of our common country, its free institutions, and in the name of those who must come after us, that we should not be disappointed and distressed, that we refuse to give our name or our endorsement to these policies."

HEARINGS URGED ON ITALIAN DEBT

Washington, February 22.—Senate hearings on the Italian debt settlement are recommended by a number of democratic senators who held an informal conference Monday afternoon.

"There is an emphatic opinion that the information available for the senate is inadequate to enable it to reach a sound conclusion as to whether a settlement should be approved or rejected," Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, minority leader, said later.

"It is pointed out that the justification for the settlement is intimately related to the alleged ability of Italy to pay, and that the finance committee has had no hearings and has furnished the senate with no information which illuminates that subject."

"Many senators who would like to support the settlement, if they find it consistent to do so, feel that its terms are so extraordinary that unless it can be justified by reliable and disinterested information they will oppose it."

COOLIDGE CONFERS WITH SMOOT. Washington, February 22.—(P)—President Coolidge, who is insisting on prompt ratification of the Italian debt settlement, conferred today with Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, a member of the American debt commission, concerning the prospect of early senate consideration of the question.

The president was informed that the Italian agreement, which is facing formidable opposition in the senate, could not be called up at least until the senate had disposed of the case on the Aluminum Company of America and the house resolution for appointment of a congressional commission to lease Mussolini's ships.

The Italian settlement probably will be the first of the six bills approving debt agreements with many foreign nations to be called up. Little opposition has developed to those affecting Belgium and the smaller European nations.

Chairman Borah, republican, of the senate foreign relations committee, and Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, are the leaders in the fight against the Italian settlement. They are supported by a number of senators on both sides of the chamber, and friends of the agreement negotiated last summer concede that the result is in doubt.

President Coolidge, in insisting upon favorable action by the senate, takes the position that the agreement was worked out by a nonpartisan commission of experts who were in a position to judge Italy's capacity to pay. Italy would be relieved of the incentive of making any new move to fund its two-billion-dollar debt.

Work that most men in this kind of an act. She performed many feats of dexterity in her number which opened the bill.

Soviet Planning To Offer France Great Oil Fields

Paris, February 22.—The Soviet will offer France the concession for the exploitation of the Grosny oil fields in the Caucasus when the conference for the settling of the czar government's debt begins Thursday, it was learned here today.

Grosny oil fields are the most important in Russia, yielding nearly half of the petroleum produced in the empire and developed since the revolution nearly to a 25 per cent greater capacity than before the war.

A project for the construction of a pipeline from Grosny across the isthmus to the Black sea is included in the scheme. The reds estimate that the operation of the Grosny fields will enable France to be independent of the rest of the world for its petroleum supply, in addition to leaving a comfortable surplus for sale abroad.

Another offer the soviet consider making to France is giving it a monopoly of the Russian oil export sale throughout Europe and a commercial treaty, making France the most favored nation.

A power I French financial group of great importance and wealth is said to be ready to take on the concessions, granting long term credits to Moscow.

Delegates Arrive. A score of Russian delegates for the negotiations already have arrived in Paris, including M. Serebrowsky, chief of the soviet oil trust.

Russia owes France approximately 18,000,000,000 gold francs (about $3,000,000,000), composed principally of bonds issued by the czar's government to about 4,000,000 French holders.

If the oil agreements are arranged these holders would receive shares in the Grosny enterprise and participate in the eventual profits of the exploitation. The financial group taking over the concession would act as an intermediary between Moscow and the French government with the bondholders.

Mrs. Joseph Cook, daughter of Mr. Gordon, left Atlanta Monday night for Miami to be with her father. Associated Press dispatches were to the effect that the danger point was passed. Mr. Gordon and his wife left Atlanta last week for Miami, and he was stricken just after his arrival.

FORSYTH OFFERS UNUSUALLY FINE VAUDEVILLE BILL

A program which carried Monday's audiences into gales of appreciative laughter and salvos of applause is offered at the Forsyth theater for the first half of this week.

Headed by Sherwin Kelly, who introduces something new in the way of vaudeville entertainment, the bill runs along with nothing lacking to make it attractive from the first to the last act. Miss Kelly brings with her a bicycle with which she does the most astounding feats. And she sings a little as she pedals about the stage.

Ted and Ad Waldman, blackface comedians, opened a new line of musical entertainment, along with a humorous monologue. The well-known musical saw plays a part in their repertoire, but the pair also had a couple of harmonicas and ordinary table spoons to add to their program. The act is a big time one.

"Myrtle of the Movies" is the title of a so-so skit featuring a movie studio, and three humorously-incited entertainers.

Tom McElwee was uproariously funny in his dialogue with Adelaide Mott.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

This new combination of yeast vitamins with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with the vitamins that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamin food, but not until we perfected "Ironized Yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been under weight—or how much under weight you are, "Ironized Yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fall get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package, or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Ironized Yeast Co., Desk 209, Atlanta, Ga.—(Indy.)

Finer Transportation at Lower Cost

More Buicks are now being sold than ever before in Buick history. And an important reason is the fact that, though expensively built, a Buick may be inexpensively purchased.

Buick could spend less money building its chassis, and still keep the quality up to the average in Buick's price class. The famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine is a more expensive type to build. Buick could use a steering gear less expensive than the 5-control-surface steering mechanism which adds so much to Buick's driving ease. The Torque-Tube Drive also adds expense to Buick manufacture, as do the "Sealed Chassis," the "Triple Sealed" engine, full pressure engine lubrication, the Buick multiple-disc, dry-plate clutch, and Buick mechanical 4-wheel brakes.

Buick closed bodies are built by Fisher to the most exacting standards laid down by any manufacturer today.

Quality, regardless of its cost, rules Buick design. But thanks to the sustained popularity* of this quality, purchasers actually pay less for it. Vast volume gives Buick owners finer transportation at lower cost. Your next car should be a Better Buick!

"Oh! Oh! Nurse" Is Pleasant Show But Lacking in Thrill

It is hard to properly classify "Oh! Oh! Nurse," musical comedy which opened a four-day engagement at the Atlanta theater last night. Analyzing it carefully, it seems to be a musical comedy which has nearly all the ingredients for success, but lacks one.

There was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Mustardole does it. It is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Gently rub it in. See how quickly the pain disappears.

Try Mustardole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

Better than a mustard plaster.

velous dancer also, and Jack Parry, who has a second comedy role that he fills effectively. And Carl DeAngelo is a character role that adds a lot. Dorothy Waters, a comedienne of rare ability, is clever in her own way as Fred Heider is in his.

And there is a soubrette that is one of the most delightful little bundles of femininity these old eyes have gazed on for many a day. The only trouble about Kitty Bird is that she hasn't enough to do. Maybe all of us don't possess the same taste in girls—but Miss Bird suits individual conceptions of looks and style and personality collection or a newer and fresher wardrobe on the stage of a local theater.

Then there is a comedian in the person of Fred Heider who deserves all the good things you can say about him. He is excruciatingly funny, his eccentric dancing is masterly, and he works as hard as a man can work in two and a half hours. When he is on the stage the entertainment is fine.

Good Dancing Cast.

There are other good members of the cast. The leading lady is beautiful and can dance. She is Miss Lila Man. The hero is a good looking youngster and can also dance. He is Walter Craig.

Then there is Oscar Lloyd, a mar-

FELL FROM TOP OF BOX CAR

Sustains painful injury but gets quick relief

Men who handle big hazardous jobs—depaul quick, effective help for sprains, strains, lame backs and bruises.

A freight brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway fell off the top of a box car on his left arm, spraining it and tearing the ligaments loose.

"I suffered great pain," he writes.
"Then I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. I have now no pain to speak of at all. The swelling has nearly all gone down." (Name and address given on request.)

What is the magic of this amazingly effective remedy? Sloan's sends an increased supply of healing blood right to the spot that hurts. That's what conquers the pain. No need to rub.
Sloan's does the whole job. Just pat it on. Quickly and surely, it kills pain, reduces swelling and inflammation,
drives out stiffness from lame muscles.

Amusements

Coming to the Atlanta.

Six medals, conferred by four governments, may be worn by Lieutenant Commander John Philip Sousa, the famous bandmaster, who is now on his thirty-third annual tour with his band. The medals of which Sousa is most proud, of course, are his military medals, three in number. They are the victory medal and the officers of the world war medal received during the world war and the Spanish war medal of the Sixth Army corps.
Upon the occasion of his world tour several years ago Sousa was decorated by three foreign countries. At the hands of the late King Edward of England, he received the decoration of the Order of the British Empire. The Academy of Hainault in Belgium he received the fine arts medal. From the French nation he received the Palme of Merit. Sousa and his famous band will give four performances at the Atlanta theater on Friday and Saturday of this week.
Seats for all performances will go on sale today.

Coming to the Atlanta.

The next big attraction at the Atlanta theater will be "The Big Parade," which will be shown in this city for two weeks beginning next Monday night and twice daily thereafter, 2:30 and 8:30. This is the biggest picture of the season and it has been called the most perfect picture made in the past 10 years. It will be presented here with a 20-piece orchestra and the same presentation used during the New York engagement, which created new theatrical history. It is a picture to be enjoyed by everyone, with John Gilbert in the starring role. Seat sale opens Thursday morning.

The Howard.

We take this opportunity publicly to congratulate Raoul Walsh and Paramount, producers of "The Wanderer," which had its first local showing last night at the Howard theater.
Mr. Walsh, already famous for his direction of "The Thief of Bagdad," and Paramount, from which company have come such productions as "The Covered Wagon" and "The Pony Express," have in "The Wanderer" the peer of any motion picture effort the industry has ever seen. The story is a screen version of Maurice Samuels's stage spectacle of the Prodigal Son, is awe-inspiring beyond anything the imagination can grasp.

Ernest Torrence, Grete Nissen,
William Collier, Jr., Wallace Beery, Tyronne Power and Kathryn Williams are the featured players. The story is Link Elmore, mezzo-soprano, featured in the stage presentation, made quite a hit with the audience yesterday. The Howard theater, under the direction of the Howard orchestra, and the organ solo, "Humoresque," by Melvin P. Ogden.

The Rialto.

The Rialto theater this week is giving its patrons a liberal entertainment program of comedy in "Red Hot Tires" and "The Adventures of Mazie."

"Red Hot Tires" has Patsy Ruth Miller and Monte Blue in the stellar roles of speed fiends, and is full of comedy, a touch of drama, many thrills and a flavor of suspense, and has been called an almost perfect picture.

"The Adventures of Mazie," the sixth episode of which is being shown this week, brings Al Cooke and Kit Guard, who have become great favorite popular comedians, in new roles with more comedy action than ever.
The novelty brings pictures of more Atlanta children at the business of living their everyday lives, snapped by the Rialto cameraman all over the city. Pathe News is shown. Whitney Hubner directs the music.

The program as a whole is exceptionally good entertainment.

Tudor Theater.

In his latest film comedy "I'll Show You the Town," the Universal Jewel feature, which opened at the Tudor theater last night, Reginald Denny comes to the screen in the role of an unimportant professor who is literally deluged with feminine hearts of all ages—and sizes.

"I'll Show You the Town," adapted from Elmer Davis's rollicking story of the same name, is the love story of Professor Alec Dupree, who fights shy of cupid's darts only to be wounded by a score of them.

West End Theater.

The announcement of Manager Alfred Fowler, of the West End theater, that he would show "The Dancers," caused many requests for success by Gerald Du Maurier and nett scored a triumph, is one of the biggest on the Atlanta stage this year. Besides O'Brien and Miss

At the Metropolitan.

A whirl of music—a pleasing film interwoven with the "eternal triangle" with the "party of the third part" consisting of a round of social engagements and a tribute to Washington, capped with vocal selections by J. William Scott and G. V. Macy.
Radio acts, compose a pleasing program at the Metropolitan theater this week.

The feature picture, "Too Much Money," is a unique story of a millionsaire, pampered wife of a millionaire. The husband, Lewis Stone, becomes a butter and egg vender and later a janitor in order to have the love of his wife, Anna Q. Nilsson.

When the "show" ends Stone and his wife are aboard a big liner bound for Europe.

Enrico Leide and the Metropolitan orchestra play "Shake That Thing" and "Songs of Old Virginia." A one-reel film paid a tribute to George Washington. Scott and Macy took the house in several catchy selections.
A Fox news reel complete one of the best picture house programs seen at the Metropolitan in the past several weeks.

N. C. State-Auburn Battle Will Open S. C. Meet Friday

Yellow Jackets and Georgia, in Opposite Brackets, Have Chance at Finals—Conference Leaders Meet V. M. I. in Second Game.

BY H. C. HAMILTON.

With North Carolina State, recent conquerors of the champion North Carolina university, opposing Auburn, the annual tournament to decide a basketball champion of the Southern Conference will get under way at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the city auditorium. The draw was completed Monday by the committee in charge, composed of A. A. Doonan, of the Atlanta Athletic club; W. A. Alexander, head coach at Georgia Tech; Herman J. Stegeman, of the Georgia university coaching staff; and Wilbur Hutsell, coach at Auburn.

FORTY ROUNDS OF BOXING ON CARD TONIGHT

Whether or not our young friend, Hollis Sullivan, who has leaped into prominence within the past few weeks by reason of a few quick victories, is entitled to a shot at some leading featherweight contender, will be decided tonight when the Marietta star of swat and entry of Professor W. H. Evans squares off in the big noise of a 40-round boxing card staged under the auspices of the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

The auditorium is the place, the time 8:30, and the matchmaker, Billy Lotz.

Sullivan will be asked to bruise his knuckles in the touch hole of Henry Goodale, of Ohio, Orlando and other places beginning with "O" and ending with same. Mr. Goodale is a man of unpleasant disposition, "is said, and for several weeks has been seeking a meeting with Sullivan, with the avowed intention of bringing that youngster to with a sound thrashing. Goodale is substituting for Benny Ray, who pulled out of the match with the assertion that he had sustained a cut eye in training.

Those, however, who can work up nothing more than an indifferent attitude toward the event tonight possibly will give a tumble to the other ten-round feature, bringing into a death grapple none other than Larry Avery, of Atlanta, and Judge Horning, of Savannah. They're set for a "rubber" match, for each holds a previous victory and there have been unkind words uttered on both sides, reports have it. Those are only two of the bouts on the card.

Local admirers of Charlie Wilson, the Power company boxing ace, and Eddie Harris, brother of Kid Nappie, by the university ruling which forbids any trip for athletics consumption more than five school days, none of the teams left out was a contender for the championship, and Vanderbilt's record was not impressive. Announcement of places where tickets may be had will be made as soon as they can be obtained for the prize. Eight games will be played Friday and four on Saturday. The semi-final and championship battle will be staged Tuesday.

Three Prep Games Scheduled Today

Three prep basketball games are scheduled for this afternoon. The league-leading Smithies play Fulton High on the Grady court. Commercial High will take on the Bluebirds and the Marist Cadets will battle Marietta.

G. M. A., the Cotton States champions, and the Purple Hurricane, of Boys High, have postponed their game until the first of next week, as Boys' High has an engagement with Barnesville High to play in the opening games of the G. I. A. 9 tournament, which starts in Macon Wednesday afternoon.

The University school team and the team from Boys' High will board a rattler for Macon Wednesday morning, while Tech High will remain in the city until later in the day, as their first game is scheduled for 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night with Columbus High.

The local high schools are expected to figure strongly in the tournament, as there are some excellent basketball players on the teams.

ROSTER WINS OVER BOROTRA FOR NET TITLE

New York, February 22.—When ever two young Frenchmen meet on the courts or in other sports they think of Verdun and so it was a matter of 28 games before either Jean Borotra or Rene Lacoste would yield in the first set of their final match in the national indoor tennis championship.

Borotra, the flaming basque who won the title in 1925 and conquered "Big Bill" Tilden last Friday, weakened first and Lacoste, the steady, won the set 15-13, and finally ran out the match and became the indoor champion. The remaining scores were 6-3, 2-6, and 6-3, as gruelling and desperately fought finals as ever has been played on the armory courts.

When Borotra carried Tilden to 24 games in the first set of their match last week he showed grit and stamina but in the even longer first set Monday he needed more than these to beat Lacoste. The latter's steady business work and volleying, remarkably free from outs and nets, won from him against the occasionally more brilliant overhead game of Borotra.

Whereas the singles finals were "all-French," the doubles finals were "all-American."

William T. Tilden, II, and Fred C. Anderson won the national title over Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, of New York, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6 and 12-10, quite a gruelling affair in its own right.

Tilden played in excellent form and justified the hope that he would defend his national outdoor title next spring despite the rise of the French trio and their signal success indoors.

Wesley Cagers Tie Up Honors

Wesley Memorial basketball five of the Epworth League club cinched the season by defeating Capitol View 27 to 9 in a hard fought battle at the Wesley Memorial court Monday night.

Grace lost to Fairburn, 22 to 28. This game may be thrown out of some of the Fairburn players were not in good standing with the league. The game was a tie, 15-15, in the first half. Marks girls won their first victory, 21 to 19, in a game against St. Johns 21 to 19. Druid Hills lost to Trinity, 21 to 32.

Tuesday afternoon the first practice of the Epworth League All-Stars will be held at the Wesley Memorial church at 5:30 o'clock. All candidates are requested to be on time.

Evening at the Wesley Memorial church there will be four good games of basketball of the league variety. The games will start at the usual time, 6:30 o'clock.

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 22.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, national professional golf champion, was confined to bed here today with fever ranging from 100 to 103 degrees as a result of an attack of ptomaine poisoning. He was slightly improved tonight, physicians announced.

Hagen was compelled to cancel an exhibition match at Ormond Beach today and to withdraw from the open tournament to be played at Lakeland Tuesday and Wednesday. He is hopeful of having sufficiently recovered to enter the Tampa open to be played on Saturday, but will run no risk of complications that might prevent his meeting Bobby Jones, national amateur champion, in the first 36 hole of their 72-hole match at Sarasota Sunday. The game is to be finished on Hagen's course in Pasadena, March 7.

Hoppe Leads Schaefer In First Day's Play

Chicago, February 22.—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, champion at 181 ballline billiards for two decades, tonight had a slight advantage over young Jake Schaefer, 182 champion at the end of their first 500 points of the 1,500-point 181 match played preliminary to Hoppe's expected title match with Edouard Horneaux, Belgian.

THREE KENTUCKY TERRORS

Here are three stars of the undefeated Kentucky basketball team, strongly favored to win the Southern Conference basketball championship which starts at the city auditorium Friday afternoon. Left to right, they are James McFarland, crack forward; Burgess Carey, captain and guard; and Lovell Underwood, star center.

A. A. C.-B. A. C. MEET TONIGHT IN LAST GAME

One of the hardest basketball games of the Atlanta season is expected to result tonight at 8:30 o'clock from the meeting of Birmingham Athletic club and Atlanta Athletic club at the Auburn avenue gymnasium. The teams, old rivals, met previously in Birmingham and the Alabama team got away on the long end of the score. Joe Bean's Atlanta cagers are determined to even that count tonight.

A long but light drill was given the local clubmen Monday night and final instructions given A. A. C. The Birmingham sharpshooters are in the city for two games, the one tonight and one Wednesday with Jewish Progressive club on the South Pryor street court.

The game at the Atlanta Athletic club will be the last to be played by the Bean squad as home team on the historic floor. The next games will be contested in the new gymnasium now in process of construction on Spring street.

B. A. C. LEAGUE FOR ATLANTA

Birmingham, Ala., February 22.—(Special).—The Birmingham Athletic club basketball team departed late Monday night for Atlanta, where they meet two of the toughest basketball combinations in Dixie before returning to their home diggings. Tuesday night Coach Lou Ervin's boys tackle Joe Bean's Atlanta A. C. five and Wednesday night they tangle with the same Joe Bean's Jewish Progressive club outfit.

Ervin took along a full squad of troops to throw at the enemy. Nine players are making the trip to Gate City, the personnel of the attacking team being: Captain Mandy, forward; Skebbie Caldwell, forward; Albert Vincent, forward; Sam Burns, forward; O. B. Newman, center; Kacey Senn, center; Wallace McKinney, guard; Elmer Ferguson, guard; and Armistead Leak, guard.

The Ervins humped off the Birmingham Y. M. H. A. team their last time out, losing to Auburn and Albany "Y"s in two road tilts, just preceding the "Y" game. The locals nosed out the A. A. C. combination in the game played here and are anxious to make it two in a row for the season.

The starting lineup in Atlanta will in all probability be: Captain Mandy and Caldwell, forwards; Newman, center; Ervin and McKinney, guards; and Leak, forward. The layout would be the placing of Vincent at forward instead of Mandy. Vincent was the bright star of the A. A. C. game here.

Petrels Undergo Hard Workouts

Chick Meehan, New York university mentor, made his appearance on the backfield Monday afternoon. Sitting inside the vestibule, the New York coach watched the Petrel eleven go through the regular routine that accompanies spring training.

Coach Robinson, Oglethorpe coach, is not only putting his team through a stiff workout to prepare them for next season, but he is trying to crowd in every minute this week to get the team in better shape for the battle with the University of Georgia Bulldogs on Sanford field in Athens, Friday.

In the remarks made by Coach Meehan he seemed to be favorably impressed with the outlook of the Oglethorpe team. He watched Coach Stanley Robinson's arduous warriors as they went through a stiff signal drill and saw the smooth plays worked out that will be thrown against the Bulldogs. After the signals and drills in every minute this week to get the team in better shape for the battle with the University of Georgia Bulldogs on Sanford field in Athens, Friday.

Captain Campbell played to form in the backfield, shooting through the lines at will. Shepherd's work at full-back is commendable.

AUSTRALIANS NOT TO PLAY FOR DAVIS CUP

Australia, February 22.—(AP)—The Australian lawn tennis authorities have decided not to compete for the Davis cup this year.

The decision is due to the depleted finances of the Lawn Tennis association and the fact that neither J. O. Anderson nor Gerald Patterson is available for a lengthy foreign trip.

Increasing difficulty in financing the long trips involved in Davis cup competition coupled with repeated failures to lift the historic tennis trophy in the last years are believed to have influenced Australia's decision not to enter the play this year.

It will mark the first time since 1905 when they first entered Davis cup play that the Australians have not been competitors. Since then, they have been consistently among the foremost contestants, winning the famous trophy six times from 1907 to 1919, and reaching the challenge round on five other occasions out of a total of 14 competitions.

Australia's record is second only to that of the United States, which has won the cup nine times. Altogether, however, Australia possessed the trophy ten years, winning it in 1914 and holding it during the four-year hiatus caused by the world war, then defeating it successfully in 1919, when competition was resumed.

That was the last Australian victory, however, for the American stars, W. T. Tilden and W. M. Johnston, brought the cup back to its homeland in 1920 and have kept it here ever since.

Australia's success in Davis cup play before the war, including titles in 1907, 1908, 1909, 1911 and 1914, was due largely to the brilliant play of Norman Brookes and Anthony Wilding, one of the greatest combinations in tennis history.

The Adopted Wife

By Amelie Rives
(Princess Troubetzkoy)

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

SYNOPSIS.
Hilary Fraser, a bachelor of 38, is surprised and considerably annoyed to learn that his late friend Gibbo, an artist, has bequeathed to him the care of his young daughter, Celia. Hilary's sister, Laura Everham, agrees to take Celia to France and place her in a convent.

The first installment of this unusual story was published yesterday. Begin to read it today.

INSTALLMENT II.

AN ASTOUNDING CHANGE

When Hilary spoke of her father Celia remained silent, but a curious, misty look came over her greenish eyes. "Perhaps this would mean tears in a more human sort of creature," Hilary thought. "Perhaps she loved her father after all . . . and is suffering to recall how little he cared for her."

Before he realized it he had asked the question:

"You loved your father?"

"No," she answered, those green eyes, which had rested on his face for a second, sliding away as usual. And she did not temper this reply with any reason or excuse.

Hilary said good-by to her soon after, thinking that her chill, unresponsive hand went exactly with her evasive, slanting eyes.

He didn't see her again until she had been three years in the convent. No coaxing from Laura could induce him to come to Brittany during the summer holidays. He knew as little about young girls as some experienced horsemen knew about colts and felt less interest in them. The thought of being even for a week in the house with a long-legged specimen to whom his relation was in some sort that of a parent was not alluring. In this time, however, Laura had become quite fond of Celia; Grace also seemed to like her and called her "Clitch," a delicate abbreviation of "Clumdalelitch," the name of the young giantess in Gulliver's voyages.

It was on a summer day in Paris that Laura at last pronounced an ultimatum to her brother regarding his ward. She and Grace were on their way to England for a yachting cruise with some friends, and Celia returned to spend the rest of the holidays at the convent.

"Hilary," said Laura in her firmest tone, "you must go to see your ward. You can't in decency put it off any longer. If Celia wasn't the sort of girl she is she'd have been deeply hurt by your avoidance of her long ago."

"What sort of girl is she, then?" asked Hilary. "I've never been able to make out from your and Maudie's allusions to her. They've always seemed vague to me somehow."

"Go and see her for yourself," returned his sister. "She isn't an easy person to describe. Suppose we motor there tomorrow?"

Now, if there was one unalterable resolve in Hilary's mind it was that his first meeting with his ward should not be in the presence of Laura or Maudie. He decided to be outspoken.

"That's most awfully kind of you, Lolly," he now said, "but if I've got to go through with it I'd rather go through with it alone. It's absolutely necessary, you think?"

"Ah-so-lute-ly," replied Laura.

He sighed, blinked out his monocle, wiped it carefully and readjusted it.

"Very well, I'll go tomorrow," he agreed, in the tone of one who decides to go to the dentist.

Hilary would have been amused and surprised by the impression he had left on Celia. The regard of those greenish eyes had seemed to glide away from him so persistently that he had thought of it at all he would have been sure that she had no clear idea of what he looked like. In a way this was true, and yet she had in her mind a distinct impression of his general appearance, though details were lacking.

In the room she had shared with her nurse after her mother's death Donovan had hung a framed silhouette. This silhouette was not of a person, but of a dignified, impressive stork standing among some rushes; and it was the black, delicately sharp outline of the stork that Celia always saw when she recalled her interview with Hilary.

The glass of her father's studio window had been behind him, and as he stood there speaking to her—for he had not once sat down—she had kept thinking: "He is just like the black stork. . . . He is exactly like the black stork."

This silhouette of the stork had always fascinated her, and now the recollection of Hilary's tall, slight figure, with its cap of thick black hair, as seen against the studio window had the same fascination for her whenever he was mentioned or the thought of him crossed her mind.

In her thought also he was ancient, like the gods in her mythology, but not old as men are old.

He had explained to her that day that he was her guardian, legally appointed by her father, and Mrs. Everham had later on told her she must do as he wished, but, like the gods, he seemed to employ human agents—Mrs. Everham chiefly—to work his will; and it had not occurred to her that she would see him again, except at long intervals, when he might wish to observe for himself how she was carrying out his orders.

Celia liked the holidays she spent inland with the tranquil nuns, although she missed the sea. She was of a still habit, even apathetic as a rule, but there were times when she would have liked to swim in and under the water always. As she came ashore in these moods she disliked the feeling of the earth under feet, felt a repulsion for it almost as if when thirsty one should have offered her a goblet of dust.

Then again she could not walk enough even to feel tired, and she loved roaming the woods and fields that surrounded the convent, though she would have enjoyed these wanderings better had she been allowed to go alone. "Some day," she used to think, "some day . . . if I am ever free . . . I'll wander over the whole world by myself . . . and swim in strange seas and rivers."

When Hilary reached the convent the morning after his talk with Laura the nuns were preserving peaches in the south courtyard. A lovely fragrance, mingled with the warm, clean smell of the little charcoal oven on which the peaches were stewing, penetrated even into the bleak parlor where the mother superior received him, and Hilary, smiling to himself, thought that the odor of sanctity could not have bettered this earthly perfume.

The mother superior, not knowing the source of this smile, found it so frank and benevolent that she reproved herself inwardly for the startled doubt she had at first experienced at the idea of this still young and, to her mind, very "elegant man of the world" as guardian of one of her charges.

She sent Soeur Agathe with him to look for Celia, who, she said, was walking the wood with Soeur Marie Joseph.

As they approached its edge Celia came suddenly from it, her long, light steps taking her far ahead of Soeur Marie Joseph, whose habit and white headress could be seen more soberly advancing among the poplar stems.

Hilary was surprised to find that the girl was a good three inches taller than when he had last seen her, and that her lank awkwardness had given place to a peculiar grace of gait. She set her narrow feet down straight and sure, as a red Indian does, and moved with as effortless a rhythm.

But his surprise increased to amazement as she came nearer and he saw what he considered the astounding change that her whole person had undergone. He had never been observant of young girls, and so was unaware that some such change takes place in most of them between the ages of fourteen and seventeen. It is true that Maudie had told him Celia wasn't "such an utter fright," as she had been, and that Laura had said her "good blood" was beginning to show, but these remarks hadn't made the least impression on him.

He stared at her now quite startled.

Miss Palmour Weds Henry D. Morgan At Quiet Ceremony

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Warren A. Candler in the presence of the two families and a group of close friends.

Davidson Glee Club To Appear Friday.

The Davidson College Glee club, which comes to Atlanta from Gainesville on Thursday, will appear in concert at the Atlanta Women's Club auditorium on Friday evening and at Agnes Scott college on the following night. Five Atlanta boys are included in the membership of the club, which is said by critics to be one of the most talented college musical organizations in the south. The Atlanta boys are David Gibson Wilson, president of the club and soloist; Richard Orme Flinn, Jr., member of the chorus; Richard H. Kane, Jr., member of the instrumental quintet; Robert F. Lowrance, baritone, and Harlee Branch, Jr., advance manager.

The club is now on its third annual tour of the south and has appeared in the leading cities of the Carolinas and Georgia. From Atlanta it will return to North Carolina in time to enter the North Carolina Glee club contest, to be held at Durham, N. C., in April. If the club wins in the state contest, the young musicians will go to New York to participate in the national competition to be held in May.

While in Atlanta the members of the club are to be entertained by the Davidson college alumni, and will be guests in the homes of prominent Presbyterian families.

College Park Woman's Club Has Meeting.

The College Park Woman's club held an interesting meeting February 17. Mrs. Edward Richardson, chairman of child welfare, gave a few gracious words introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Sharp, of Emory university, who gave a most comprehensive talk on "Rights of the Child." The club's Wednesday morning study club should be congratulated in having Mrs. Sharp as president.

Mrs. Clarence Wall, music chairman, introduced Mrs. Lamar Walker, of Griffin, who gave a group of songs, "Dawn," "Indian Dawn" and "My Song of Love."

An interesting article, "Visits the Queen," was submitted to the club by the president, Mrs. Lotsepeich, written by a little Tallulah Falls graduate, Grace Taylor, the adopted daughter of Lucile Verne, the actress. Miss Verne is now playing in Belgium theaters before the king and queen.

Mrs. B. D. Gray made an earnest appeal for library books for the schools.

The U. D. C. silver tea to be held at Mrs. V. C. Mason's, March 2 at 3 o'clock, was announced by Mrs. Peter Haden.

Mrs. Lotsepeich, president, urged all members of the club to be present at the next meeting, March 3.

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1924 by P. O. Beauty Features

Watch the Kind of Soap

You use on your face

Use only a true complexion soap—use this way

MODERN beauty methods start now with keeping the pores clean and the skin free of blemish-inviting matter. That means daily cleansing with soap and water.

Youth is thus preserved and natural loveliness invited.

But take care the kind of soap you use. Don't think any so-called "good" soap will do. Some soaps, excellent for many purposes, may prove unfitted for your skin. A good complexion is too priceless for experiment.

That is why most authorities urge Palmolive: a soap made of rare cosmetic oils, a soap made by experts in beauty solely for ONE purpose, to safeguard your complexion. Before its day, women were told "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh.

Just follow this simple rule in skin care for one week. Note the improvement that comes. It is Nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion."

Try this one week... Note the changes in your skin

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain what it does for your face. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

WAS DIZZY, HEAD ACED, AND COLOR WAS BAD

"Until something over two years ago, I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on me two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Murray, Ky.

"I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples. This was accompanied by spells of violent nausea.

"My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed.

"My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. But worse than that was my lack of 'pep.' I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I dragged at my work—got through it, somehow, but always feeling like it was an awful job. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells.

"One day one of my neighbors, who has used Thedford's Black-Draught for years, asked me why I did not try it. He said he had noticed how bad my color was, and he thought it would help me.

"I got some Black-Draught immediately and began to take it regularly at first until I got my system clear of the poison I had been absorbing. I soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells.

"I feel that Thedford's Black-Draught has relieved me of a trouble that had been with me for years. Now I take a dose of Black-Draught every so often to prevent biliousness. I am feeling fine. My color is healthy now. I can do twice the work I could do last year and I feel that I owe all this improvement to Black-Draught." JA-25

Banquet Hall.

In the banquet hall there was a long table stretched to which the presidents and officers of the different patriotic societies and prominent organizations were invited.

How fitting that the president of a large, important body like this should be a representative woman of beauty, charm and magnetism!

This is what the Atlanta Woman's club has in its president.

Not only is Mrs. Norman Sharp particularly good to look at but a most capable presiding officer.

She is ably assisted by a whole personnel of pretty and capable leaders, headed by Mrs. Stevenson, the first vice president.

Mrs. Sharp was toastmistress on this occasion and in response to requests from her there were some very inspirational speeches from Mrs. Rambo, that delightful ever-ready impromptu after-dinner speaker; Mrs. Perdue, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Price-Smith and others.

Greetings for Frank Stanton.

Through the courtesy and thoughtfulness of Mrs. Perdue a resolution sending birthday greetings to Frank L. Stanton, whose birthday it also was, was introduced and carried. At the close of the banquet the guests rose and stood at attention to the American flag while singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Signor Volpi and Nora Allen Volpi.

Among other notable guests present were two whom all of Atlanta knows with much pleasure, Signor and Nora Allen Volpi, late of the Chicago Grand Opera company.

No two musicians in Atlanta have given more sincere pleasure or are the objects of more genuine admiration than these two talented musicians.

Following the banquet there was given a wonderful program, "An Afternoon in the Orient," under the very capable direction of Mrs. Mary Griffith Dobbs and Mrs. Lella Griffith Beardi, co-chairmen of the club's music department. This was rendered by the Washington Seminary Mandolin club, under W. B. Griffith, in charge of this young organization of much promise.

There were dancing features and many objects of art, loaned by friends for the forthcoming exhibit under the auspices of the art department under Mrs. James Little, were on display.

The day was one of great pleasure and a most fitting tribute to him whom the whole nation is honoring at the same time.

Fifty Club in Retrospect.

"Try as strenuously as we could—to which statement we will have to plead not guilty—to get away from that Fifty club performance of last week, it can't be done."

People won't let us!

Everywhere we go from the dentist to the butcher shop—that one is suggestive of the other in the subconscious mind is strangely coincidental only, I assure you—from the church to the ballroom—which are more than anti-coincident—from early morning to late at night, we come up with one question alone, "DID you hear the Fifty club performance at the Woman's club last week?"

We, James Little, and we are very thankful that we did.

Program Sheet Clever.

If by any chance you brought that program home with you, and you haven't done so already, get it out and read it for its uniqueness and wit.

During the performance we were so kept on the jump by the quick action of these gymnasts that all we had time for was to keep our finger on the line telling of the identity of the disguised friends before us and an eye on the stage.

We sensed, however, that here might be a document worthy of handing down to posterity, and so home it came with us.

And right we were in our suspicions.

Listen to only one of them:

"Furnishings for actors and actresses."

"Shoes by Adams & Cates."

"Hats by Whitehead & Hoag Co."

"B. V. D.'s by Cotton States Advertising agency."

"Weapons by Mutual Life Insurance Co."

Have you heard the motto of those serious-minded citizens?

"Do nothing but do it well!"

And the purpose of organization, given in their own words, is:

"The Fifty club was organized (at least that's what some well-eyed Irish Jew imparted to the editor) for the purpose of benefiting mankind in general, e. g., the promotion of the more artistic things of life, both as regards the spiritual and the material! In other words we are imbued with the old philanthropic nature. Our membership consists of the most brilliant minds and generous natures that ever shook foot in shoe leather. We have no officers nor dues to amount to anything. Ours is kind of a gypsy life, having moved (by request) from place to place, benefiting everyone with whom we've come in contact, in one way, shape or form. And so in the tomorrows to come, we'll go onwards and upwards—striving in our own idealistic way to build a better world in which to live!—Q. E. D."

Talent Amazing!

Had it ever occurred to you before said performance that chubby little T. T. Tommy was a perfect model for a cupid with wings, bow, arrow et al?

Nature did it for him!

Straight into Helena's and Paris' hearts did this Messenger of Venus shoot his poisoned dart!

"The 'Helena' of Legare Davis' artistic interpretation and sylph-like representation!"

And of what wonderful "parts" was the noble and heroic Paris in the hands of Shir!

Don't you wonder that the audience did not have time to read the program?

And in the striking figure of Tsumu, the Numidian maid to the queen, did you have any trouble in recognizing the manly beauty of society's pet Esmond Brady?

It was wonderfully made—the umbrella-point striking at the proper places according to Hoyle—not Vogue, in its present flatness of lines in detail.

George Harrison assumed nothing less than the real proportions—not like unto Esmond's figurative portrayal, with no disparagement to the latter's histrionic appeal—nor yet failed to give George all possible credit for the physical earmarks of a real, live Shakespearean actor!

And Allan Gottschaldt was old Monna Lisa herself!

We actually had to ask who our old friend was, so perfectly did he lend himself to the interpretation of this kindly role.

Eugene Black, Jr.—the swan—the goddess of the dance!

The thought of it takes 10 years off of your age, doesn't it?

He was simply a scream!

And have you seen anything like the little "Black and White skit?"

"A Preachment," it was called and the cleverness not alone lay in its presentation by Eugene McNeel, handsome black-face comedian, Roy Booker, the facetious "Man," and Howard McCall, the "another man," but in the lines touching up local celebrities in their true and false settings!

And the inimitable Joe Haverly at the piano! Nothing surpassed his fun-making proclivities.

Wonderful Stage Director.

And do you know to whom you are indebted largely for the splendid technique of this remarkable production? No less a personage than "under the personal direction of Flappi Burgani."

Do you recognize your old friend of Marionette days a few years ago when Flappi Burgani was the whole show in this Tech organization?

No other than he, it is!

For days Mr. Burge "stood by" watching these rehearsals, polishing the lines and dictating the details of this, the most difficult of all types of entertainment—burlesque!

A former president of the Fifty club is Mr. Burge and a most valuable member.

And who is there who does not fully subscribe to the lines: "Fun is the sunshine of society. It is an enemy to malice, a foe to scandal and a guardian angel to every virtue. It fills the soul with happiness, softens the heart and quickens the intellect."

Long live the Fifty club!

Song Birds in Unison.

In her luxurious apartment at the Biltmore Friday morning, Galli-Curel was rehearsing.

Her liquid, molten tones were running up and down the scales.

Trills and cadences followed each other in rapid succession.

From low notes to the rafters would they go.

The charming apartment adjoining the diva's belongs to Mrs. William Rover and in it is a gilded cage holding a little golden throated canary.

The little bird caught the tones and the inspiration from the human song-bird in her little gilded cage next door and together they sang!

Soon the guests in the hotel congregated in the corridor on the outside of the doors of the two gilded cages and unconsciously, the little feathered songster and his co-singer, whose prototype he was, the world-famed coloratura soprano, regaled the audience for some time.

Blackfriars' Club Receives Favorable Comment.

The four one-act plays written by the play-writing class of Agnes Scott, under the direction of Miss Nan Bagby Stephens and produced by the Blackfriars' dramatic club under the direction of Frances K. Gooch Saturday evening at Agnes Scott have received much attention, comment and worthwhile criticism. Among the favorable comments is from Mrs. John McGhie, who is a well-known actress. She says: "It was my good fortune to be one of the audience Saturday night at the Agnes Scott college and see the four one-act plays given by the Blackfriars' dramatic club. I would like to say they were delightfully given and acted. There was a real professional touch to the entire performance, the authors particularly showing great talent for the future."

Having been on the stage most of my life (my husband, John McGhie, was the well-known operatic conductor of the Park theater, New York City), I like to encourage talent when I see it. So this gives me great pleasure to voice my approval. Sincerely, Josephine McGhie (Mrs. John McGhie).

Little Miss Kenan Celebrates Birthday.

Little Miss Annie Hill Kenan was the lovely young honor guest at the children's party celebrating her fifth birthday Monday afternoon, given by her mother, Mrs. Thomas Kenan, Jr.

Assisting Mrs. Kenan in the entertainment were Mrs. W. A. Smith, aunt of the honor guest; her sister, Sarah Kenan and Frances Latimer.

Little Miss Kenan wore a pale blue tulle dress with a pink sash. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies, sent her little cousin, Susan Smith.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap, but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a quart. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated extract of genuine North Carolina pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—(adv.)

Price of Cotton Futures Is Not Affected Despite Bearishness of Situation

BY THEO H. PRICE.
(Editor Commerce and Finance.)
New York, February 22.—The cotton market hardly budged last week. The bearishness of the situation is much talked of and the expectation of a reduced acreage next season is becoming less general, but nothing that has happened yet has adversely affected the price of future contracts. The bears are intimidated by the premium on the near positions and the discount at which new crop deliveries are selling is so great that they seem relatively low, even if a superabundant supply were assured. This resistance to influences that would ordinarily depress values is itself a bullish argument, for the stability that the market has shown in the face of factors that would usually be depressing indicates that someone is willing to buy the small quantity of new crop cotton that is from day to day offered for sale. The comparative lassitude of the domestic dry goods market is, however, a factor that cannot be ignored, and the purchases by which prices have been sustained are chiefly for foreign account. European manufacturers seem to feel that taking one consideration with another October delivery at or around 16 cents a pound is reasonable, and there is no doubt that some of the old fashioned merchants and spinners of continental Europe are anticipating their requirements by buying on a scale down.

Market Is Steady.
Upon the whole this policy would seem to be wise if it may be taken for granted there will be no increase in the purchasing power of money during the next three or four years. Upon the average it now takes $1.00 to buy what would have cost $1 before the war. This means that 38 cents for cotton is the equivalent of about 12 cents in prewar money, and for some years prior to 1914 cotton was not considered dear at 12 cents.

It may be that those who are now buying new crop deliveries are acting, consciously or unconsciously, upon this equation of values. Certainly the steadiness of the market in face of conditions that are superficially bearish, is impressive.

Meantime the south is preparing to plant another crop. Most reports indicate that the preparations are well advanced, and despite the assertion that the cotton and cotton seed grown last year sold for $300,000,000 less than it cost to produce them it is not now believed that there will be much reduction in acreage. But the ghost of the boll weevil still stalks abroad in the southern cotton fields, and has no doubt been a factor in inducing the forward purchases. But the Manchester reports indicate an increase in the volume of trade, but it is claimed that the prices at which goods can be sold show but little profit, although the demand is better than it was. There is evidence that larger supplies are needed abroad, and the general outlook in India is said to be healthier than for some time. In the China trade there is every indication that more business soon will be passing, and trade with Egypt has shown an increase in activity which was not expected. The apparent prosperity of the Orient is, in fact, one of the striking features of the world's situation at present.

Egyptian Cotton.
It is somewhat amusing to read that the British cotton manufacturers are protesting against the action of the Egyptian government in adopting a plan designed to control the price of Egyptian cotton, much as the Stevenson scheme was designed to control the price of rubber. Reports from Italy indicate that the Italian textile industry has been very prosperous of late, and predict increased activity in the near future.

In New Hampshire a law that would prohibit women and children from working more than 48 hours a week in the cotton mills has again become a political issue, and will probably be an important factor in the campaign which has already commenced for the gubernatorial nomination in the republican primaries. Governor Winant, the present incumbent, is in favor of the law, which is opposed by Huntley N. Spaulding, who is competing with Mr. Winant for the nomination.

The cotton manufacturing trade will be interested in the issue of $17,500,000 five-year 5-1/2 per cent gold notes offered by bankers for account of the Pacific mills, operating plants at Lawrence, Mass., Dover, N. H., and Columbia and Inman, S. C. The notes are being sold upon a basis of 6-1/4 per cent. Insofar as the cotton textile industry is concerned the issue is something of a novelty, and the readiness with which it was sold may lead to other offerings of the same character.

Because jute bagging is largely used to bale cotton, the position of jute and burlaps is getting to be very interesting. Cable advices from Calcutta predict an imminent curtailment of 25 per cent in the production. This curtailment will be effected by closing the mills or running them on short time. As a result, the market for bagging and burlaps has been an advancing one and still higher prices are expected. J. Ernest Cox, chairman of the British company known as Jute Industries, Ltd., predicts higher prices as a result of the increased cost of production due to the advance in labor and higher taxation.

Universal Pictures Company, Inc., reports its best year for the fiscal period ended November 7, 1925, net earnings available for dividends amounting to $1,925,500, equivalent after first and second preferred dividends to $618 a share on the common stock against $5.62 a share in the preceding 12 months.

FOREIGN GRAIN TRADING LIGHT

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, February 22.—With all United States markets closed in observance of Washington's birthday interest in the grain trade was light and even Winnipeg and Liverpool, which were open, felt the effect of limited trading and scarcity of news. Liverpool wheat opened 1 to 1-1/2 higher and closed firmer at 11-1/2 to 13-1/4 net advance on wheat for the day.

Winnipeg wheat started with light offerings and a firm tone on buying by houses with continental connections more than offsetting selling by eastern interests and prices moved up 1c. This increased selling pressure and with early buyers filled up prices receded and under light trading by local operators and closed unchanged for the day with May and July showing the most strength.

Oats closed 1-8c higher. Rye advanced 1-2c and closed 1-8c higher. barley 1-4c higher to unchanged and flax 1-4 to 1-2c higher after a good advance.

There is nothing in the trade at Winnipeg to indicate any export business. Stocks of all grains at Winnipeg are increasing. Ft. William having about double the supply of wheat of last year. Cash prices as compared with Winnipeg may show no evidence of a heavy demand as No. 1 northern was 11-1/4c under May and other discounts were: No. 2 northern 6-5/8c, No. 3 northern 11-1/4c and No. 4 northern 18-3/4c with demand local for odd cars.

Of the 341 cars of wheat received at Winnipeg today as compared with 264 cars last year, there were 22 cars No. 1 northern, 52 cars No. 2 northern, 92 cars No. 3 northern, 8 cars No. 4 northern and 129 cars of other grades, mostly no grade. Arrivals of oats were 47 cars, rye 2 cars, barley 9 and flax 3 cars. Last year oat arrivals were 45 cars, rye 8, barley 19 and flax 14 cars.

Weather over the Canadian northwest was clear to cloudy with temperatures of 6 to 32 above, the highest at Medicine Hat.

At Chicago grain inspectors were at work all day to grade arrivals of corn and estimates are that around 1,000 cars will be shown in tomorrow's report of receipts. Few operators were out on the curb and no attempt was made to trade.

May wheat in Winnipeg closed at 1.55 1-2, July 1.53 3-4, and October 1.50 1-2. May oats 42-7-8c and July 48 1-2. May rye 96 3-8c, barely 61 7-8c and flax $2.09, with July $2.11 1-4. Expectations are that around 1,000 cars of corn will show up in Tuesday's arrivals of corn as the inspectors were at work on the tracks the past two days to prevent any accumulation of grain.

The Company agrees to pay to the Trustee in approximately equal monthly installments the amount due on account of interest.

Callable as a whole or in part on six weeks' notice on February 1, 1931, or on any interest date thereafter through August 1, 1935, at 102 and interest, and thereafter on any interest date prior to maturity at 100 and interest. Coupon Bonds $1,000 denomination, registrable as to principal only. Reichskredit Gesellschaft Aktiengesellschaft, Berlin, Germany, Trustee, and Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Ill., Co-Trustee.

Information regarding the Association, these Bonds, and the security therefor is given in a letter, signed by Messrs. Kleiner and Jursch, the President and Vice-President, respectively, of the German Savings Banks and Clearing Association, copies of which will be furnished on request. This information is summarized in part as follows:

The Consolidated Loan: In the economic reconstruction of Germany the Government has consistently enforced its policy of restricting expenditures by the various states and municipalities to the most urgently needed improvements. Issuance of loans payable in foreign moneys is confined with few exceptions to obtaining funds for the construction of or additions to income-producing public works. In addition to the comparatively few German states and cities which have been permitted to contract external obligations, there are many others which need funds for capital expenditures of this nature, but in amounts too small to justify separate issues. Therefore, the Council for Foreign Loans of the Ministry of Finance of the German Government has authorized the German Savings Banks and Clearing Association to do the present financing and to be reimbursed by taking the bonds, payable in dollars, of the communities benefited.

The Association: The German Savings Banks and Clearing Association, through its District Associations, comprises over 3,000 cities, towns and municipal districts, including country districts. The Association thus embraces a population estimated at over 56,000,000, or approximately 90% of the total population of Germany.

Security: These Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be the direct obligations of the German Savings Banks and Clearing Association. The municipalities which are members of the District Associations are liable with their entire property and taxing power for the obligations of the District Association to which they belong and the District Associations in turn are liable for the obligations of the Central Association. In this manner, these Bonds are in ultimate effect the joint and several obligations of over 3,000 cities, towns and municipal districts which comprise the membership of the District Associations. The member municipalities in practically all cases, own their own gas, water, electrical and other public works.

In addition, the Bonds of Series of 1926 due 1947 are to be specifically secured by pledge with the Trustee of an equal principal amount of bonds of approximately 120 municipalities located throughout Germany which are members of the District Associations. The pledged bonds are to be deposited, from time to time, as the proceeds of this loan are distributed and will correspond in interest rate, sinking fund and maturity to the Bonds of this issue. Interest and sinking fund on the pledged bonds will be payable in dollars and will provide the funds necessary to satisfy the interest and sinking fund requirements of the Bonds of this issue.

Purpose of Issue: According to Government authorization the proceeds of this loan must be used only for the construction or improvement of gas and electric properties, water works, and other revenue producing public works. Furthermore, it must be established that there is a public need for the work contemplated and that the income of the properties will be sufficient to provide the interest and amortization requirements of the loan.

Sinking Fund: The Trust Agreement will provide for progressively increasing annual sinking fund payments commencing November 15, 1927, calculated to retire all Bonds of this issue by maturity.

Information contained herein has, in large part, been transmitted by cable and the contents of this advertisement are subject to cable errors.

A truck like men have never seen before

BIG BRUTE—General Motors' Contribution to American Industry; A Colossus Among The Giants of Modern Transportation

1,000 of the world's foremost automotive engineers are represented in General Motors newest transportation achievement . . . Big Brute, a truck such as the industrial world has never before known.

The automotive experience of some 25 years stands behind it.

Over $500,000,000 in assets backs it.

What the gigantic General Motors Corporation has learned in the manufacture of more than 4,849,485 passenger and commercial cars, representing Billions of Dollars in sales to a satisfied public, is embodied in mechanical, structural and operating features far beyond the achievements of today in motor truck transportation. More than 71% of all General Motors vehicles ever produced, are still in constant and active use.

Big Brute lives up to its name. There is no truck fairly comparable to it in the world today. It is a mechanical brute. A brute to stand, with a smile, the most brutal requirements of men and industry.

Instantly you see it, you recognize it for what it is . . . a colossus among Giants; a mechanism to achieve economies, power and endurance in heavy duty transportation surpassing all previous conceptions of men.

It is literally, probably and unquestionably a motor truck without "bugs."

The motor trucks of the entire world were studied in developing this amazing industrial vehicle. Their weaknesses, through the last ten years—the experimental years in truck transportation—were weighed and analyzed. Countless millions of miles of service records were taken into count.

Then one by one, those weaknesses were corrected. Engineering mistakes were overcome. Found strengths were fortified. Economies were developed. Then, Big Brute conceived, perfected and put to the most brutal tests to which a man made achievement could be subjected . . . tests to level an ordinary mechanism.

From every detail, from tremendous material strength to the world's supreme engineering; from the Fisher Built cab that provides driver's comfort unknown before, to operating ease comparable only to the most tractable pleasure vehicle, to double transmission multiplying tractive power . . . Big Brute stands to change the industrial motor transportation of the world.

It must be considered first in considering fleets of trucks where the impossible must be achieved, day by day, without pause or interruption; where economical operation is paramount, where re-sale value is positive and certain . . . and where the finest modern motor engineering and manufacture alone will satisfy.

Big Brute is an institution . . . the contribution of a great industry to all industry.

Sold Under GMAC Plan

Big Brute, like other products of the General Motors Corporation, is offered under the liberal General Motors Acceptance Corporation Plan of deferred payments—the lowest cost under which any motor car or truck can be financed on time payments.
